SWPPP Internship™ Overview

SWPPP Internship™ program is offered free of cost to you and your student. Interns meet to study stormwater flow on their school campus and in their local watershed. They take samples, analyze for pollutants, and design solutions to reduce pollutants running off the campus and into the storm drains. In this hands-on, project-based program interns will develop essential real-world skills, including scientific observation, data analysis, collaboration, engineering design and be given opportunities to present their findings to their school and community. To learn more, please visit: www.swpppinternship.com.

Intern Responsibilities

SWPPP interns will meet after school on five early-out Fridays. Interns are responsible for maintaining their classroom grades and prioritizing SWPPP Staff Meetings over other optional activities. Interns may have some responsibilities and tasks to complete outside of class time.
